Supply of oxygen
Dimbleby Cancer Care is an outpatient setting and so we cannot provide oxygen or medication to our patients.

Please make sure that you bring enough supplies to cover your appointment and your journeys to and from the hospital.

Useful sources of information
British Acupuncture Council
The British Acupuncture Council promotes traditional Chinese acupuncture and provides information for patients and practitioners:
[webpage: www.acupuncture.org.uk]

British Medical Acupuncture Society
The British Medical Acupuncture Society provides information for patients and health professionals:
[webpage: www.medical-acupuncture.co.uk]

Guy’s and St Thomas’ cannot accept responsibility for information provided by other organisations.

Contact us
If you have any questions or concerns about acupuncture or any other complementary therapy, please contact Dimbleby Cancer Care, t: 020 7188 5918, Monday to Friday, 9am-4.30pm.

Guy’s and St Thomas’ hospitals offer a range of cancer-related information leaflets for patients and carers, available at [webpage: www.guysandstthomas.nhs.uk/cancer-leaflets].

Pharmacy Medicines Helpline
If you have any questions or concerns about your medicines, please speak to the staff caring for you or call our helpline.
t: 020 7188 8748, Monday to Friday, 9am-5pm

Your comments and concerns
For advice, support or to raise a concern, contact our Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS). To make a complaint, contact the complaints department.
t: 020 7188 8801 (PALS)
e: pals@gstt.nhs.uk
t: 020 7188 3514 (complaints)
e: complaints2@gstt.nhs.uk

Leaflet number: 4323/VER2
Date published: July 2019
Review date: July 2022
© 2019 Guy’s and St Thomas’ NHS Foundation Trust
A list of sources is available on request
What is seated acupuncture?
Acupuncture is the insertion of very fine needles in specific points on the body, to stimulate or relax. Seated acupuncture is based on Traditional Chinese Medicine. During the treatment session you will be fully clothed and in a seated position. All needles are single use, sterile and disposable. They are inserted mostly from the elbows and knees down, on the head, and around the ears.

How can seated acupuncture help me?
Research supports the effectiveness of acupuncture for pain relief, releasing natural painkillers which change the way the brain receives information about pain. It is also known to reduce sensitivity to stress, and promote relaxation.

Acupuncture can be used to help with symptoms and side effects of cancer and its treatments, including but not limited to nausea, hot flushes, pain, insomnia and anxiety.

How many sessions will I have?
We offer six weekly treatments, each lasting up to 45 minutes. You will be treated in a quiet room with other patients.

How should I prepare for a treatment session?
You should wear loose fitting clothes so your forearms and lower legs are easily accessible. You should have something light to eat and drink before your treatment session.

Who are the acupuncturists?
We have a dedicated team of practitioners who are qualified in their chosen therapy. All our therapists have experience in working with cancer patients.

Our acupuncturists have a degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine: Acupuncture, and are registered with either the British Acupuncture Council, the Acupuncture Association for Chartered Physiotherapists or the British Medical Acupuncture Society.

When should acupuncture not be used?
Even though acupuncture is proven to be an effective tool for pain, it is not suitable for everyone. If you suffer from any condition below then this is not a suitable treatment for you and you should speak to your therapist.

- Metal (specifically stainless steel) allergies
- Needle phobia
- You have a known infection or poor skin condition in the area to be treated.

Please tell your therapist if you are affected by any of the following:

- have haemophilia or are taking anticoagulants (blood thinning medication)
- are pregnant or trying to conceive
- suffer from epilepsy or seizures
- have a heart pacemaker
- have diabetes.

Are there risks in receiving acupuncture?
All treatments and procedures have risks and we will discuss the risks of acupuncture with you before the treatment starts. During the treatment:

- some people may feel faint, or actually faint, especially the first time they receive acupuncture.
- some people may feel momentary discomfort as the needle is inserted.

After the treatment:

- sometimes a small bruise can appear at a needle site.
- occasionally, people can feel dizzy or tired after a treatment but this passes quickly. You should not drive or operate machinery immediately after your appointment if you are affected.

Are alternatives available?
Acupuncture is a drug-free treatment. It is safe, and can work alongside existing treatments. If you are referred to the Seated Acupuncture Group, we advise you to complete the course to obtain the maximum benefit.

If you choose to not have acupuncture, or find it does not suit you, other treatments may be offered. This will depend on your choice and what is appropriate.

Can my carer receive treatment?
Yes, depending on availability.
What is seated acupuncture?
Acupuncture is the insertion of very fine needles in specific points on the body, to stimulate or relax. Seated acupuncture is based on Traditional Chinese Medicine. During the treatment session you will be fully clothed and in a seated position. All needles are single use, sterile and disposable. They are inserted mostly from the elbows and knees down, on the head, and around the ears.

Who are the acupuncturists?
We have a dedicated team of practitioners who are qualified in their chosen therapy. All our therapists have experience in working with cancer patients.

Our acupuncturists have a degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine: Acupuncture, and are registered with either the British Acupuncture Council, the Acupuncture Association for Chartered Physiotherapists or the British Medical Acupuncture Society.

When should acupuncture not be used?
Even though acupuncture is proven to be an effective tool for pain relief, it is not suitable for everyone. If you suffer from any condition below then this is not a suitable treatment for you and you should speak to your therapist.

- Metal (specifically stainless steel) allergies
- Needle phobia
- You have a known infection or poor skin condition in the area to be treated.

Please tell your therapist if you are affected by any of the following:

- have haemophilia or are taking anticoagulants (blood thinning medication)
- are pregnant or trying to conceive
- suffer from epilepsy or seizures
- have a heart pacemaker
- have diabetes.

Are there risks in receiving acupuncture?
All treatments and procedures have risks and we will discuss the risks of acupuncture with you before the treatment starts.

During the treatment:

- some people may feel faint, or actually faint, especially the first time they receive acupuncture.
- some people may feel momentary discomfort as the needle is inserted.

After the treatment:

- sometimes a small bruise can appear at a needle site.
- occasionally, people can feel dizzy or tired after a treatment but this passes quickly. You should not drive or operate machinery immediately after your appointment if you are affected.

Are alternatives available?
Acupuncture is a drug-free treatment. It is safe, and can work alongside existing treatments. If you are referred to the Seated Acupuncture Group, we advise you to complete the course to obtain the maximum benefit.

If you choose to not have acupuncture, or find it does not suit you, other treatments may be offered. This will depend on your choice and what is appropriate.

Can my carer receive treatment?
Yes, depending on availability.

How can seated acupuncture help me?
Research supports the effectiveness of acupuncture for pain relief, releasing natural painkillers which change the way the brain receives information about pain. It is also known to reduce sensitivity to stress, and promote relaxation.

Acupuncture can be used to help with symptoms and side effects of cancer and its treatments, including but not limited to nausea, hot flushes, pain, insomnia and anxiety.

How many sessions will I have?
We offer six weekly treatments, each lasting up to 45 minutes. You will be treated in a quiet room with other patients.

How should I prepare for a treatment session?
You should wear loose fitting clothes so your forearms and lower legs are easily accessible. You should have something light to eat and drink before your treatment session.
What is seated acupuncture?
Acupuncture is the insertion of very fine needles in specific points on the body, to stimulate or relax. Seated acupuncture is based on Traditional Chinese Medicine. During the treatment session you will be fully clothed and in a seated position. All needles are single use, sterile and disposable. They are inserted mostly from the elbows and knees down, on the head, and around the ears.

How can seated acupuncture help me?
Research supports the effectiveness of acupuncture for pain relief, releasing natural painkillers which change the way the brain receives information about pain. It is also known to reduce sensitivity to stress, and promote relaxation.

Acupuncture can be used to help with symptoms and side effects of cancer and its treatments, including but not limited to nausea, hot flushes, pain, insomnia and anxiety.

How many sessions will I have?
We offer six weekly treatments, each lasting up to 45 minutes. You will be treated in a quiet room with other patients.

How should I prepare for a treatment session?
You should wear loose fitting clothes so your forearms and lower legs are easily accessible. You should have something light to eat and drink before your treatment session.

Who are the acupuncturists?
We have a dedicated team of practitioners who are qualified in their chosen therapy. All our therapists have experience in working with cancer patients.

Our acupuncturists have a degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine: Acupuncture, and are registered with either the British Acupuncture Council, the Acupuncture Association for Chartered Physiotherapists or the British Medical Acupuncture Society.

When should acupuncture not be used?
Even though acupuncture is proven to be an effective tool for pain, it is not suitable for everyone. If you suffer from any condition below then this is not a suitable treatment for you and you should speak to your therapist.

- Metal (specifically stainless steel) allergies
- Needle phobia
- You have a known infection or poor skin condition in the area to be treated.

Please tell your therapist if you are affected by any of the following:

- have haemophilia or are taking anticoagulants (blood thinning medication)
- are pregnant or trying to conceive
- suffer from epilepsy or seizures
- have a heart pacemaker
- have diabetes.

Are there risks in receiving acupuncture?
All treatments and procedures have risks and we will discuss the risks of acupuncture with you before the treatment starts. During the treatment:

- some people may feel faint, or actually faint, especially the first time they receive acupuncture.
- some people may feel momentary discomfort as the needle is inserted.

After the treatment:

- sometimes a small bruise can appear at a needle site.
- occasionally, people can feel dizzy or tired after a treatment but this passes quickly. You should not drive or operate machinery immediately after your appointment if you are affected.

Are alternatives available?
Acupuncture is a drug-free treatment. It is safe, and can work alongside existing treatments. If you are referred to the Seated Acupuncture Group, we advise you to complete the course to obtain the maximum benefit.

If you choose to not have acupuncture, or find it does not suit you, other treatments may be offered. This will depend on your choice and what is appropriate.

Can my carer receive treatment?
Yes, depending on availability.
Supply of oxygen
Dimbleby Cancer Care is an outpatient setting and so we cannot provide oxygen or medication to our patients.

Please make sure that you bring enough supplies to cover your appointment and your journeys to and from the hospital.

Useful sources of information

British Acupuncture Council
The British Acupuncture Council promotes traditional Chinese acupuncture and provides information for patients and practitioners:
w: www.acupuncture.org.uk

British Medical Acupuncture Society
The British Medical Acupuncture Society provides information for patients and health professionals:
w: www.medical-acupuncture.co.uk

Guy’s and St Thomas’ cannot accept responsibility for information provided by other organisations.

Contact us
If you have any questions or concerns about acupuncture or any other complementary therapy, please contact Dimbleby Cancer Care, t: 020 7188 5918, Monday to Friday, 9am-4.30pm.

Guy’s and St Thomas’ hospitals offer a range of cancer-related information leaflets for patients and carers, available at w: www.guysandstthomas.nhs.uk/cancer-leaflets.

Pharmacy Medicines Helpline
If you have any questions or concerns about your medicines, please speak to the staff caring for you or call our helpline.
t: 020 7188 8748, Monday to Friday, 9am-5pm

t: 020 7188 8801 (PALS)
e: pals@gstt.nhs.uk
t: 020 7188 3514 (complaints)
e: complaints2@gstt.nhs.uk

Your comments and concerns
For advice, support or to raise a concern, contact our Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS). To make a complaint, contact the complaints department.
t: 020 7188 8801 (PALS)
e: pals@gstt.nhs.uk
t: 020 7188 3514 (complaints)
e: complaints2@gstt.nhs.uk

Leaflet number: 4323/VER2
Date published: July 2019
Review date: July 2022
© 2019 Guy’s and St Thomas’ NHS Foundation Trust
A list of sources is available on request
Supply of oxygen
Dimbleby Cancer Care is an outpatient setting and so we cannot provide oxygen or medication to our patients.

Please make sure that you bring enough supplies to cover your appointment and your journeys to and from the hospital.

Useful sources of information
British Acupuncture Council
The British Acupuncture Council promotes traditional Chinese acupuncture and provides information for patients and practitioners:
www.acupuncture.org.uk

British Medical Acupuncture Society
The British Medical Acupuncture Society provides information for patients and health professionals:
www.medical-acupuncture.co.uk

Guy's and St Thomas' cannot accept responsibility for information provided by other organisations.

Contact us
If you have any questions or concerns about acupuncture or any other complementary therapy, please contact Dimbleby Cancer Care, t: 020 7188 5918, Monday to Friday, 9am-4.30pm.

Guy's and St Thomas' hospitals offer a range of cancer-related information leaflets for patients and carers, available at www.guysandstthomas.nhs.uk/cancer-leaflets.

Pharmacy Medicines Helpline
If you have any questions or concerns about your medicines, please speak to the staff caring for you or call our helpline.
 t: 020 7188 8748, Monday to Friday, 9am-5pm

Your comments and concerns
For advice, support or to raise a concern, contact our Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS). To make a complaint, contact the complaints department.
 t: 020 7188 8801 (PALS)
 e: pals@gstt.nhs.uk
 t: 020 7188 3514 (complaints)
 e: complaints2@gstt.nhs.uk

Leaflet number: 4323/VER2
Date published: July 2019
Review date: July 2022
© 2019 Guy’s and St Thomas’ NHS Foundation Trust
A list of sources is available on request