Headache awareness for neurofibromatosis type 1 (NF1)

This leaflet is for people with NF1 and covers how to reduce headaches. If you have any further questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact your NF1 nurse specialists.

How to reduce headaches
Headaches in NF1 are very common. There are simple lifestyle changes you can make to help reduce headaches and migraines.

Relaxation
Reduce stress and anxiety by trying:
- mindfulness
- meditation
- gentle exercise
- deep breathing
- writing a list of your worries before going to bed to clear your thoughts.

Sleep
- Learn healthy regular sleep patterns.
- Too much or too little sleep can cause headaches.
- Try to avoid caffeine after 5pm and alcohol and smoking shortly before going to bed.
- Don’t use back-lit devices like televisions, phones, tablets and computers in your bedroom or before you go to bed.

Cut caffeine
- Try to drink fewer than three cups of tea, coffee or cola a day.
- Find decaffeinated alternative options.

Eat regularly
Lack of food can cause headaches:
- aim to have three meals each day at regular times
- aim to drink 6-7 glasses of water a day.

Reduce painkiller use
Overusing painkillers like paracetamol and codeine can cause headaches. Discuss with your specialist or GP and try to reduce your reliance on painkillers.
