Rotigotine patch for restless legs syndrome

The purpose of this leaflet is to provide some information about rotigotine, which has been prescribed to treat your restless legs syndrome (RLS). If you have any questions or concerns, please speak to a doctor or nurse caring for you.

What is rotigotine?
Rotigotine belongs to a group of medicines which trigger nerve impulses in the brain that help to control body movements. It is used to treat the symptoms of RLS when these symptoms are severe enough to cause distress. It works by reducing muscle activity which may cause the uncomfortable feeling in your legs.

How do I use the medicine?
Apply one rotigotine patch every day at the same time each day. Also, it's important that you remember to remove the 'old' patch before you apply the 'new' patch.

You can put the patches on areas of your body such as the sides of your body, your thighs, hips, abdomen (tummy), shoulder and upper arms. Each time you apply a patch, use a different area of skin to apply the new patch to. Do not use the same area again for at least 14 days.

Keep using the patches until your doctor tells you otherwise. Stopping suddenly can cause problems and your doctor will want you to reduce the strength of the patches gradually if you need to stop treatment.

What should I do if I forget to use the medicine?
If you forget to change your patch at your usual time, don't worry, change it when you remember, and then change this new patch on the next day at your usual time. If a patch comes off accidentally, apply a new patch but then continue to change it at your usual time.

Are there any side effects?
The following are examples of some of the side effects reported by patients taking rotigotine.

For further information on side effects, please see the manufacturer’s leaflet that comes with the medicine.
Important: if you experience any of the following symptoms, contact your GP for advice as soon as possible:
- Impulsive types of behaviour (such as an increased desire to gamble, binge eat, or an increased sex drive).

If any of the side effects persist or become a problem, please contact your GP/consultant or pharmacist for advice.

Is there anything else I need to know?
Rotigotine can cause your blood pressure to fall (particularly in the early days of your treatment) and your doctor will want to check for this. Your doctor could also recommend you have eyesight tests from time to time.

Try to make sure that when you are wearing a patch it does not come into contact with a heat source such as a heating pad, hot water bottle, electric blanket, or a heated water bed. Heated items like these may increase the amount of medicine that is released from the patch. It is also best to not have long hot baths or sunbathe for long periods of time.

Sometimes people taking medicines like rotigotine can fall asleep suddenly during the day with little or no warning of being tired beforehand. Until you know how you react, take extra care if you drive or operate machinery. If you do find yourself falling asleep suddenly, you should see your doctor as soon as possible for advice, and avoid driving or using tools and machines in the meantime.

Side effect

What should I do if it happens?

Very common (more than one in 10)

- Headache
  - Use your usual painkiller, for example, paracetamol.

- Feeling or being sick
  - Stick to simple or bland meals (avoid rich and spicy foods).

- Skin reactions or itching where the patch has been applied
  - Inform your doctor or pharmacist. Protect the area from sunshine until it has healed.

Common (between one in 100 and one in 10)

- Feeling drowsy or sleepy, falling asleep suddenly
  - If this happens, do not drive or use tools or machines. Speak with your doctor.

- Feeling dizzy or faint (due to changes in your blood pressure)
  - If you feel dizzy, lie down so that you do not faint, then sit for a few moments before standing. This usually passes as your body gets used to the patches. Do not drive or use tools or machines.

- Difficulties sleeping, abnormal thinking and behaviour, the sensation of having a 'thumping heart' (palpitations), hiccups, constipation, loss of weight, swollen legs and ankles, feeling irritable, indigestion
  - If any of these become troublesome, speak with your doctor.

- Allergic reactions
  - Speak to you doctor immediately.
If you are a driver, please be aware that rotigotine may affect your reactions and ability to drive. It is an offence to drive while your reactions are impaired. Even if your driving ability is not impaired, if you drive, you are advised to carry some evidence with you which shows that the medicine has been prescribed for you – a repeat prescription form or the patient information leaflet from the packet is generally considered suitable.

If you are due to have an operation or any medical treatment, please tell the person carrying out the treatment that you are using skin patches. This is particularly important if you are due to have MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) or cardioversion, as any patches will need to be removed before these procedures.

There is an increased risk of skin problems with use of patches. Check your skin from time to time for any unusual areas of skin, and to speak with your doctor if you are concerned.

Rotigotine should be kept out of reach of children. If anyone other than you takes this medicine, you, they, or their parent/carer should contact NHS 111 for advice. If they are unwell then they should call for an ambulance.

The expiry date is printed on the container. Do not use the medicine after this date. The remainder should be returned to your local pharmacy to be discarded.

Pregnancy and breastfeeding:
We do not recommend the use of this medicine if you are pregnant or breastfeeding. You should let your consultant know if you are planning a pregnancy so that a management plan can be agreed. If you discover that you are pregnant, please contact your consultant for advice as soon as possible.

Sleep hygiene: Using rotigotine is not a replacement for a good sleep routine. It is still important to aim to get around seven to eight hours of sleep at night if possible. It is advisable to go to bed when tired, and get up at about the same time each day.

Can I use rotigotine patches with other medicines?
Rotigotine may interact with some medicines. It is important to let us know about any medicines that you are currently taking, so that we can check it is suitable for you. If you are buying any medicines over the counter from a pharmacy, always mention that you have been prescribed rotigotine. It is safe to take ibuprofen or paracetamol with this medicine. Seek advice from a pharmacist when buying herbal or homeopathic remedies.

How will my treatment be reviewed?
Your treatment will be reviewed on an ongoing basis and the dose adjusted in response to your symptoms.

How do I get a repeat prescription?
Your GP will give you a repeat prescription for rotigotine, which you can take to your local pharmacy for supply.

Please make sure you request your repeat prescription early enough to prevent your supply running out, or risking missing any doses of your medication.
